Victorian

This selection of Victorian, ball-jointed towel warmers are reminiscent of England's Imperial period and reflects the solidity and practicality of the Victorian age.

Ever popular, yet elegantly functional, these towel warmers add that element of timelessness and security of bygone days.

This presentation of trail-blazing towel warmers heralds a new era of design creativity for the bathroom. Whether sweeping curves, sharply focused geometric lines or even three dimensional, these towel-warmers will undoubtedly appeal to the fashion conscious few who demand products not previously conceived or available.

Those who wish to make a statement that they are moving upwards and onwards - who simply demand the latest and the best!

Eutopia

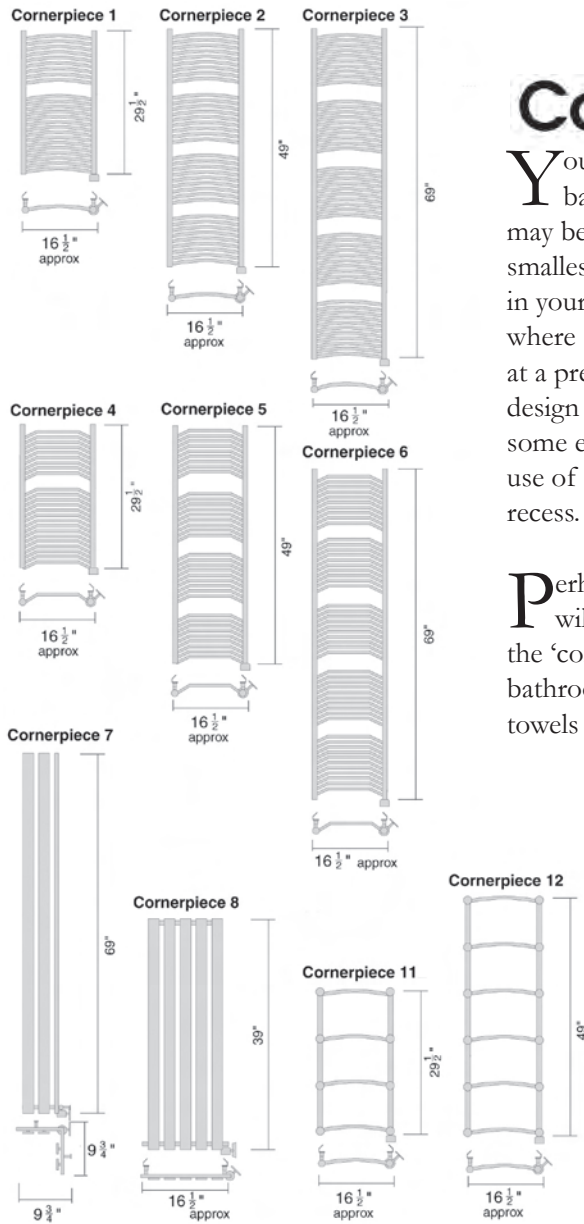

Proven in popularity in Europe these 'ladder' multiple-rail towel warmers exude a special 'cachet' to your bathroom. With such a plethora of models, widths and heights there must be something for everyone?

Builder

Some of our clients prefer the elegance of simplicity. Or plain discretion and less ostentation. Others seek practical utility which is not synonymous with lack of quality.

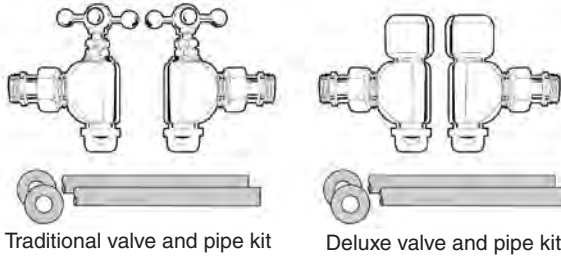

These models are only more affordable because intricacies in production or components have been minimised. Quality has not been compromised yet price has been moderated.

In electric usage the output is limited by the wattage of the element which is sized according to the type of rail and may be approximately 75, 100, 150, 250, 300, 400 or 500 watts. Most elements supplied encapsulate an operating thermostat at 70°C + or -5%. An additional thermal fuse cuts the element out in the unlikely event that the temperature rises to 90°C. In all cases the emission capability of each rail is greater than the maximum output of the element.

de-zincification

Please note that on direct heating systems, in certain aggressive water conditions or where a water softener is installed, de-zincification of the brass may occur. De-zincification resistant material (special 70/30 arsenical brass) is available for these systems at extra charge.

delivery

Delivery charges F.O.B V.A.22553 direct shipment from factory via United Parcel available on request.

PRODUCT MAINTENANCE

All finishes on Wesaunard towel warmers are maintained in the same manner. Never use cleaning agents they will likely damage your units finish. To clean the surface of body oil or finger prints etc, simply wipe the surface with a damp cloth or wet soapy cloth if necessary. This process will return the unit to its peak condition. Buff with soft dry duster to restore lustrous finish.

PERFORMANCE

Electric units. The electric towel warmer will generally take about thirty minutes to reach its operating temperature. The surface of the towel warmer will normally be too hot to hold on to but not hot enough to damage fabric of any kind. The temperature varies depending whether or not covered by towels.

HYDRONIC UNITS

The operating temperature of a hydronic unit is subject to the equipment it is connected to and generally is 130-140 degrees F.

Wesaunard Warranty

Wesaunard warrants its products for 5 years against the following:

1. Any defect in plating or painted finish.
2. All brazed connections-against leaks.

Wesaunard warrants its heating elements for 12 months.

GENERAL NOTES:

Shipping - any damage claim from shipping must be reported immediately and no later than 7 business days from the signed date of delivery.

Returned goods - Any goods in the original carton unopened are returnable subject to a 25% restocking charge & our inspection. Custom sized goods are not returnable. No returned goods will be accepted without an RGA number.

Custom sizing - Wesaunard can custom size most of our units for an additional charge based on the degree of customisation and cost of specialised components.

Note: In accordance with our policy of constant improvement in design, we reserve the right to alter specifications without prior notice. Elements 1 yr.
